It sets out Metrix Connects commitment to assist clients that may be affected by family violence, and to support vulnerable clients, including those affected by financial hardship.

This policy, our internal policy and training programs assist our representatives to:

1. identify and understand if a client may be vulnerable;
2. determine how best, and to what extent, they can support a vulnerable client;
3. take account of a client's particular needs or vulnerability; and
4. engage with a vulnerable client with sensitivity, dignity, respect and compassion. This may include arranging additional support and referring the client to specialised people or services.

Family Violence

Metrix Connect acknowledges that family violence is serious and impacts many in the Australian community. We recognise that family violence can have a significant impact and may make doing business with us more challenging.

We encourage clients experiencing any form of family or domestic violence to tell us so that your representative can find a suitable, sensitive and supportive way forward.

Support and Assistance

We recognise that family violence is unacceptable in any relationship and clients experiencing family violence will be treated with dignity and respect.

We will assist clients experiencing family violence by:

Financial hardship occurs when client's experience difficulty in meeting their financial obligations to Metrix Connect representatives, their insurer or other third party in connection with their insurance arrangements.

- assistance with accessing the financial hardship arrangements of the insurer or other third party; or
- if appropriate, refer them to a specialist support service.

A person may be vulnerable due to a range of factors, including:

1. age;
2. disability;
3. mental health conditions;
4. physical health conditions;
5. family violence;
6. language barriers;
7. cultural background;
8. Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander status;
